From Boston and points east

- Get on I-90, the Mass Turnpike, and head west toward Albany, NY.
- Take Exit 2 at Lee (about 120 miles from Boston). Go through the toll booth and turn right onto Route 20 north. The road soon turns sharp left, then sharp right by a magnificent steepled church, then through downtown Lee to another sharp left. Don't worry; the signs will keep you on Route 20 north through Lenox, where Route 7 joins it.
- Stay on Routes 7 / 20 to downtown Pittsfield (about 11 miles from Exit 2 in Lee). There Route 20 splits off to the left, but you'll continue straight on Route 7 to Park Square in the center of town. It's not a square but an oval, so think of it as a rotary; you'll enter it with a right turn, go a quarter of the way around, and exit onto East Street. Move to the left lane, and turn left at the light, with signs for Route 7 north guiding you all the way. From here on it's easy; just stay on Route 7 north through Lanesborough to New Ashford, about 11 miles from downtown Pittsfield.
- After the "Town of New Ashford" sign, you will pass by a few hotels in the Berkshire County. Watch for the "Snowy Owl Resort" on the left, then the Econolodge on the right. Slow down; Mallery Road is coming up immediately on the left after the Inn, and just before a towering rocky cliff. That's our gazebo at clifftop! Turn left onto Mallery Road, then right at the first driveway. You'll know you're here when you see a huge slab of rock inscribed with "Shirakaba" in Japanese. You've now arrived at our Berkshires get-away.
